History of Fairview Cemetery

continued from Volume II

Each year, after the general election, the City Council met and elected, among other officials, the sexton of Fairview. They were as follows:

- 12 May 1881 - I. P. Parks
- 8 May 1882 - Col. Daniel Shrader
- 7 May 1883 - Henry T. Wible
- 19 May 1884 - Daniel Shrader
- 11 May 1885 - Daniel Shrader
- 10 May 1886 - Daniel Shrader
- 9 May 1887 - James Brown
- 7 May 1888 - James Brown
- 13 May 1889 - Daniel Shrader
- 12 May 1890 - Daniel Shrader

In May 1881, the Sexton's salary was set at $300 per year. The Mexican War monument, in 1886, was restored for the second time. A City Ordinance was passed, in 1887, creating a cemetery fund, of $1000.00, to pay needed expenses of the cemetery.

On May 5, 1887, the Hon. Washington C. DePauw, died. He was born at Salem, Washington Co., Jan. 4, 1822. His father was Gen. John DePauw, was an eminent lawyer, and a man of note in the pioneer history of Indiana. His grandfather, W. C. DePauw, came to America with Gen. Lafayette, during the American Revolution. He remained in this country, married in Virginia, and then removed to near Lexington, Ky.

Washington C. DePauw became Indiana's most successful businessman and wealthiest citizen. His funeral was the largest, ever to be seen at Fairview. Beginning at the residence of the late, Mr. DePauw, the procession marched to the cemetery. It was led by over 3500 workmen in the employ of the deceased. Next came the city officials, visiting officials from other cities, and the Odd Fellows, including many members from Newcastle, Indianapolis and Salem.

Five thousand people at least were in the procession, and following it were hundreds of carriages, buggies and hacks. Thousands lined the streets to pay their respects. By actual count, 9063 persons entered the cemetery gate, and yet all the streets leading to it were crowded with people unable to gain admission.

Mr. DePauw was survived by his wife, two sons Newland T. and Charles W. DePauw, and daughter Miss Florence DePauw. Also surviving was Dr. Elijah Newland, father of a deceased wife of Mr. DePauw.

In October 1890, money was collected by subscription, totalling $651.50, and by the following spring, a splendid new stone entrance was erected.
